16. Emma WOIKIN, cover name "NORA".

000895

Emma WOIKIN was born at Slaine Lake, Saskatchewan, of Doukhobour parents on December 30, 1920. She was married in 1937 and is now a widow. She attended Primary School from 1927 to June, 1933 and qualified for High School Entrance, following which she took a business course.

When completing National Registration on August 20, 1940 she declared she owed allegiance to no country. However, when she applied for a position in the Department of External Affairs on September 10, 1943 she declared she was a British subject of Russian origin.

Emma WOIKIN passed a Civil Service examination for Grade 1 in 1943 and qualified as a Typist. From September 10, 1943 to February 25, 1944 she was employed in the Passport Office. On February 25, 1944 she was transferred to the Cipher Division of the Department of External Affairs and was recently transferred back to the Passport Office.

On March 20, 1944 she completed a Departmental form, expressing her willingness to serve in Russia, her application however was not approved.

Following this she approached the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa for a position but this was refused, it being intimated however that she could help the Soviet Union in other ways. She agreed to supply information but fearing penetration she was kept at arm's length. Finally, overwhelmed by the importance of the material which she had provided, some of which had been called to the attention of Marshal Stalin himself, she was accepted as a full agent.

CORBY submitted five exhibits concerning information supplied by Emma WOIKIN. The following is a typical sample:-

"From: The Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs, London.

Gousev pointed out to the Minister for Foreign Affairs Mr. Bevin that Britain was carrying out the agreements of the Potsdam Conference, especially in regard to Spain. Gousev said, from Bevin's speech of August 20th, Franco could well see that no action was intended against him.

Bevin said that Britain would welcome a change of Government in Spain, but would not countenance any action that would bring on civil war. He also added that Britain carrying out the agreements of Potsdam Conference and asked, "was not the Soviet Union asking them to overstep them?" To this Gousev made no reply."

Another sample follows hereunder:-

The problem of Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Hungary, and Roumania, has been brought up and discussed in a piecemeal fashion time and time, but as a whole, (as it really is the same problem) Russia has never agreed to discuss it. They are all under the influence and supervision of Russia. Elections are being planned in all these countries, but they will only result in a totalitarian system and again under the supervision of the Russians.

We have to gain the confidence and attention of these countries and have to show what we have to offer in ways of economics and culture.

The present continual differences in regard to these countries will endanger our relations with Soviet Union.

There is not much hope for Yugoslavia having a Democratic Government. Tito is evidently breaking all agreements of Subasic-Tito Agreement, but we feel it is too early to step in.

Austria has a better chance of forming a Democracy than any of the other countries because it is occupied by United Kingdom, United States, and France, and yet in case of forming a Government, it will be the Russians imported from Moscow that will be in the lead.

These differences will eventually bring out different opinions between us and United States, and above all we have to try to prevent that."

It is interesting to add that Emma WOIKIN had never previously come to our notice and has no known connection with the Communist Movement.

17. [James Scotland BURNING--cover name "PORTER".]

J. S. BURNING was born in Montreal on June 15, 1913. He was educated in Montreal Public Schools and also attended McGill University, where he took an Accounting Course. From 1932 until 1942 he was employed by various concerns. On July 1, 1942 he secured employment with the Allied War Supply Corporation and from July 21, 1942 to July, 1945 acted as Liaison Officer in the Ammunition Filling Division, Ammunition Production Branch of the Department of Munitions & Supply. He also acted as Joint Secretary of the Canadian Munitions Assignment Committee. [Stamp]

In July, 1945 BURNING was appointed to a Depreciation Committee, in which capacity he was responsible for the agenda of weekly meetings and reports to the Deputy Minister. He is presently in charge of Assignment Records and is virtually Assistant Research Director in the Economics and Statistics Branch of the Department of Munitions & Supply.

It is significant to note that BURNING is a brother-in-law of [Herold S. GARRON,] whose cover name is "GRAY".

P.F. 123,085 P.F. 123,077
CORSEY explained that BURNING was recruited by Sam GARR for [BOKOLOV's] 1942-43 organization. He then came under [ZHEVEINOV] (MARTIN). [Stamp]

P.F. 123,089
An item in the documents furnished by CORSEY showed ZHEVEINOV worked with BURNING in connection with a task concerning the Army and that he submitted three reports.

BURNING supplied what may be described as enormous amounts of information. Some idea of the quantities and subjects covered may be gleaned from the fact that one single mail bag sent to Moscow in January, 1945 included over 360 pages of information supplied by BURNING. [Stamp]

The following briefly outlines the subjects on which BURNING supplied information:-

Canadian-British relations, Production of aeroplanes, Production of ships, Army Orders, Correspondence with companies, Corrections, Contracts, General Correspondence with Contractors, Notes to Contractors, Supplements to Contractors, Explosives, Programs, Specifications, Inspection Branch, Notes on Conferences, Composition of a Packing Commission, Production of Arms, Analysis of Orders, as well as reports and notes concerning the North American Committee of Co-ordination.

18. H. S. Gerson, cover name "Gray"

This man is a geological engineer who is at present employed in the records division, Ammunition Production Branch of the Department of Munitions and Supply.

Of Russian-Jewish origin, age about 40 years, he was educated at Montreal schools, 1911 - 24; McGill University 1924 - 28; carried on graduate work at McGill 1928-29; Columbia University, New York City, 1929-30; speaks and writes English and French.

As early as August 1944, he was supplying information on technological questions regarding war material. Early in August of this year he provided data on the output of artillery ammunition and later in the month informed Grant about modified schedules received from the Ministry of Supply in Great Britain with regard to 25 pdr. shells, grenades Mark 11, etc... He also stated that, on August 14th, the General Staff had sent out an urgent call for additional production of certain types of shells including 25 pdrs.

Gerson is obviously regarded as a very valuable agent and he was told to make every effort to remain with the Department of Munitions and Supply. He informed Grant toward the end of the month that great reductions in personnel were to be made and that he did not believe he would be able to stay. He intended therefore to establish a geological engineering advisory office in Ottawa of which he would be the head. He estimated the cost as follows: $600 a year for rent, $1,200 for current expenses, $1,000 for office equipment and $4,200 a year as his salary. He pointed out, however, that if, as he expects, Canada enters a "boom" period in the mining industry, the office should be self-supporting within two years, and even the initial expenditure would be recovered.

Grant made no comment, but on August 28th, asked his headquarters for authorization to proceed with the scheme.

Gerson was a member of [Sokolov's] original organization in 1942-43. It is believed that he was then working in Montreal, since he came under Fred Rose.

19. David SHUGAR, cover name "PROMETHEUS".

David SHUGAR was born in Apaeow, Poland, of Jewish parents, on September 10, 1915. He married, in 1945, Grace Wales,

SHUGAR came to Canada in 1920. He entered McGill University in September, 1933 and later graduated as a Physicist. He later secured employment with Research Enterprises Limited, Toronto and whilst so employed took an active part in a Union known as the Association of Technical Employees. He was eventually dismissed for failing to show sufficient vigour in carrying out his work, but was later reinstated. Following his dismissal the Communist Press gave considerable publicity to the incident, describing it as an attempt at intimidation by the Company. SHUGAR was discharged a second time and the matter was again publicised in the Communist Press.

COREY explained, and submitted documentary proof, that SHUGAR was one of Sam CARR's recruits and that CARR supplied him with assignments from Colonel ZABOTIN.

One of these assignments, passed to SHUGAR by CARR, listed seven tasks respecting Naval and Coastal hydro-acoustic stations and apparatus.

At a later meeting CARR was asked how this assignment stood and advised that SHUGAR had consented to work but he would have to do so with special caution as he was under observation.

In August, 1945 Colonel ZABOTIN proposed to Moscow that SHUGAR be transferred as a direct agent, contact to be Major ROGOV (BREKT). Moscow did not approve this proposal until SHUGAR's full possibilities were established and that in the meantime contact should be maintained through CARR.

Another assignment, consisting of five tasks, was supplied to Sam CARR in August, 1945. One of these tasks asked CARR to suggest a place SHUGAR should work in the event of demobilization.

COREY also explained that SHUGAR supplied valuable information with respect to submarines and periscopes.

SHUGAR was taken into the Naval Service on Divisional strength at H.M.C.S. "YORK" on February 14, 1944. He then proceeded to H.M.C.S. "CORNWALLIS" on February 23, 1944 for his basic training, and on March 28, 1944 was assigned to N.S.H.C. for duty with the Director of Electrical Supply. In this capacity he travels extensively both here and in the U.S.A.

20. S/L K.S. NIGHTINGALE--cover name "LEADER".

M.S. NIGHTINGALE was formerly a S/L in the R.C.A.F. He now resides in Montreal and is employed by the Bell Telephone Company. He is now in charge of the Toll Transmission Engineering Department of the Bell Telephone Company and in this position has access to the latest technical information concerning listening devices.

COREY explained, and submitted documentary proof, that NIGHTINGALE was a former member of the Communist Party who was detached for special work. He evidently worked under Sam CARR who was known to him as "WALTER" and at a meeting which took place on December 19, 1944 he was listed as possibly being able to supply information concerning the network of aerodromes from coast to coast and maps of the coast districts.

The documents also reveal that contact with NIGHTINGALE was more or less of a control nature twice a year.

On January 25, 1945 NIGHTINGALE advised Major ROGOV (BRENT) that he was being demobilized and would work for the Bell Telephone Company. Following this a meeting was arranged, at which he supplied details of his new address. Tasks then set included supplying information respecting telephone tapping devices.

Prior to NIGHTINGALE's discharge from the R.C.A.F. he was introduced to Dr. Henry HARRIS.

The above named individual has been tentatively identified as one of the four members of the original Ottawa-Toronto Group under [Sam CARR.] P.F. 603,461

CORRY reports that POLAND worked for CARR from January-April, 1943. At this time he was employed in the Intelligence Branch of the C.C.A.F. in Toronto and he provided a plan or map of an Instructional School.

S/L POLAND is presently on a special assignment under the Camp Commandant, C.C.A.F., Ottawa. It is interesting to note that he resides in the same apartment as [S.E. LUNAN.]

23. ZASANSKY (phonetic), cover name "JAN"

This man was formerly Secretary to the Military Attache at the Czech Legation in Ottawa.

According to CORBY, ZASANSKY furnished ZABOTIN with a sample of Allied bullet proof cloth which was sent to Moscow.

ZASANSKY left Ottawa about March or April to return to Czechoslovakia via London. He was given instructions by ZABOTIN to enable him to make contact with an unknown individual in the Soviet Embassy in London. It was the intention that he should continue to work for Soviet Intelligence.

ZASANSKY was appointed Adjutant to INGR (phonetic) who at that time was expected to become Czechoslovak Chief of Staff. However SVOBODA was finally appointed to the latter post, and it is probable that ZASANSKY will return to Ottawa in an official capacity.

24. Hermine RABINOVITZContact with Soviet Agents in Switzerland

In December 1943, and again in April 1944, an I.L.O. research worker in Montreal, Hermine RABINOVITZ, approached the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa on what she claimed were very important and secret matters. Vitali PAVLOV, the NKVD man was informed and telegraphed to his superiors in Moscow, who told him to take no action. It was not until late in April that PAVLOV informed Lt. Colonel MORTNOV of the situation.

RABINOVITZ had apparently worked for the I.L.O. in Geneva and it must be inferred that she had also done work directly or indirectly for the Soviets or for the Communist Party. After leaving Switzerland, she is believed to have been in Moscow, where she was given a warm reception.

About March 1944 she received several letters through the I.L.O. bag from Geneva, signed RACHEL. These letters, in a form of open code, gave her news about the position of an intelligence organization in Switzerland and more particularly asked her to get in touch with the representatives of the Intelligence Department of the Red Army and arrange for $10,000 to be sent through proper cutouts.

As soon as he heard this, ZABOTIN established contact with RABINOVITZ through Sergei M. KOUDRIAVTZEV, and after having assured himself that the matter was genuine, made arrangements, presumably through Moscow, to complete the financial transaction. RABINOVITZ went to New York where she received $10,000 from the Consul MICHAÏLOV. She then handed this money to the head of a watch company in New York, and the latter made a remittance to Switzerland, presumably under the guise of a business transaction.

Thereafter, KOUDRIAVTZEV kept in touch with RABINOVITZ and, on August 28, the latter informed him that a telegram had been received in New York indicating that the money had arrived. This telegram came from Alexander ABRAMSON, a member of the I.L.O. in Geneva and undoubtedly one of the Swiss agents. ABRAMSON had been on the point of visiting Moscow in June 1941 when the Russo-German conflict broke out.

Through RACHEL's letters it has been possible to learn something about the Swiss organization, and the following agents are mentioned:

- (a) SISI. COREY states that she is an extremely important agent, who had been working close to the German General Staff. SISI has now been identified as Rachel
- (b) LUCY. Working with SISI, apparently after a break in their relationship.
- (c) ALBERT. Appears to have been under suspicion or surveillance since he is referred to as being "sick" and about to "leave his profession for a long time".
- (d) PAUL. Mentioned by ZABOTIN in reference to SISI and therefore presumably of equal importance.

(e) [Norman A. VEALL] P.F. 66,951

VEALL is an Englishman, born in 1919. Until 1942 he worked in the meteorological service of the RAF in Cambridge, and was sent to Montreal about 1943 as a research worker.

VEALL had apparently been a member of the C.P.-G.B. and before his departure, he received instructions from his superior in the Party to make contact with the Canadian Party. He also carried a letter of recommendation which CORBY thinks was signed by D.A. SPRINGHALL, the former National Organizer of the C.P.-G.B. who, in mid-1943, was sentenced to a long term of imprisonment under the Official Secrets Act.

VEALL apparently visited one of the Press Attaches at the Soviet Embassy and may also have been in touch with Sam CARR. At all events, CARR was instructed on June 15, 1945 to get in touch with him and to find out what he wanted. CORBY states that ZABOTIN was afraid that VEALL might be a British agent, or an agent provocateur, and he was certainly handled very gingerly.

Later on, MAY was asked to report on VEALL and stated that he occupied only a minor position and had very little information. ZABOTIN put the matter up to Moscow and suggested that the NKVD might like to use VEALL.

At the end of August, Moscow replied that they had nothing against VEALL, but that since he carried a letter from a Party member in England who had been arrested and had not thought fit to destroy it, they could not see their way to having any further contact with him whatsoever.

It is worth noting that ZABOTIN apparently knew nothing about the letter which VEALL carried and the inference is that the NKVD had found out about it and had reported to their headquarters where the information was duly recorded for future reference.
